A picture-perfect February weekend in Peach Springs welcomed Hualapai Tribal members, invited guests and on-lookers to the Saturday morning grand opening of the newly remodeled Walapai Market along Route 66. The ceremonies began promptly at 11:00 AM with a prayer and blessing by Mr. Frank Mapatis, a welcoming speech by Chairwoman Counts, and the ribbon-cutting ceremony which brings a fully operational market back to Peach Springs, that includes a deli, butcher shop and bakery. Ms. Tab Parr, newly appointed member of the Grand Canyon Resort Corporation's Board, recounted her time in Peach Springs as a youth when her family operated the store in the 1970s and was also glad to see the newly remodeled market open to serve the community.

Special thanks is given to AR Mays Construction and Bollinger Consulting Architects for achieving the remodel in six months from conceptual design to completion. The next phase of construction will be a new fueling station which will also be operated from the market. This project is expected to break ground in February with completion by early April. In all, the market and fueling station will employ 15 people.

Store hours are from 8:00 AM to 8:00 PM, Monday-Friday and 8:00 AM to 6:00 PM on weekends.

With flags flying, the newly remodeled store attracts community members

Fuelwood Cutting • Forestry Regulations

Submitted by: Charles Murphy | Tribal Forestry

Hualapai Tribal Forestry

By: Charles A. Murphy

Fuelwood season is upon us. I have been getting numerous reports for various infractions by woodcutters from cutting fences, leaving gates open, selling wood without a permit, cutting commercially outside the designated area, not scaling commercial loads, etc.

These are all activities that are punishable by Tribal and Federal Law. Be informed, that if you purchase wood from someone that has cut it illegally, you are guilty of receiving stolen property which may be confiscated pending legal action, as well as you being charged. To all commercial wood cutters, be informed that wood does not change possession from the Tribe to you until after the wood has been scaled. Wood should be scaled the same day as it was cut.

As Tribal Members, each and every one of you are owners of the Tribal resources and if someone chooses to profit by it, each of you should receive your fair share. This is done by requiring stumpage to be paid (which goes into the General Fund for all members) and being insured that it is done in a manageable condition that does not harm the resource for future generations. This is the reason for all of the natural resource management plans.

I have attached part of the Forestry Ordinance Appendix II. Regulations (pages 13-15) - which summarizes most of the common rules for harvesting wood. The complete ordinance is available at the Tribal Forestry Office.

61.3. Noncommercial Harvesting By Tribal Members

A Hualapai Tribal member may harvest forest products without charge and without a permit as long as it is for his/her personal use, with the following exceptions:

- a. No live ponderosa pine may be cut.
- b. No standing ponderosa pine snags may be cut.
- c. No cutting in designated commercial cutting areas.
- d. No cutting of live trees within 500 feet of the Supai Highway or the Buck & Doe Road.
- e. No hauling of material off of Hualapai tribal lands without a completed haul ticket.

Products harvested under this authority are considered noncommercial harvesting and shall be for the member's personal use. Such products shall not be sold or exchanged for other goods or services.

The maximum amount that may be harvested by any individual shall not exceed $2,500 in stumpage value in any one Tribal fiscal year, utilizing the rate schedule in effect at the time of harvesting.

All individuals harvesting forest products on Hualapai tribal lands are required to use conservative cutting methods. Conservative cutting methods include no partial cutting of trees, utilization of all wood down to three inches and all wood 33% or more sound, stump heights not exceeding one-half of diameter except no stump shall exceed twelve inches, and all slash lopped and scattered no higher than two feet above ground level.

Individuals harvesting forest products from Hualapai tribal lands may be held responsible for the suppression costs and damages from any fires caused by their harvesting activities. To minimize the possibility of fire, it is required that all chainsaws be equipped with a functioning spark arrester. It is also requested that all cutters have a shovel, axe, and a small fire extinguisher on site to suppress any fires created by the harvesting operation.

Cutters are required to remove all trash created by them from their harvesting area.

61.4. Noncommercial Harvesting By Non-Members

All non-members may harvest forest products on Hualapai tribal lands without charge pursuant to a free use permit under two circumstances:

- A. A non-member who is married to a currently enrolled Hualapai Tribal member may harvest forest products without charge as long as it is for his/her personal use, with the following exceptions:
 - a. No live ponderosa pine may be cut.
 - b. No standing ponderosa pine snags may be cut.
 - c. No cutting in designated commercial cutting areas.
 - d. No cutting of live trees within 500 feet of the Supai Highway or the Buck & Doe Road.
 - e. No hauling of material off of Hualapai tribal lands without a completed haul ticket.

B. Noncommercial harvesting under permit may be allowed under special or unusual circumstances but must be approved by the Program Manager and the Department Director. Cutting conditions a. through e. above apply.

Products harvested under this authority shall be for the permittee's personal use. Such products shall not be sold or exchanged for other goods or services.

The maximum amount that may be harvested by any individual shall not exceed $2,500 in stumpage value in any one tribal fiscal year, utilizing the rate schedule in effect at the time of issuance of the permit.

Free use permits under this section shall be considered noncommercial harvesting. Permits will be issued at the Hualapai Tribal Forestry Office.

All individuals harvesting forest products on Hualapai tribal lands are required to use conservative cutting methods. Conservative cutting methods include no partial cutting of trees, utilization of all wood down to three inches and all wood 33% or more sound, stump heights not exceeding one-half of diameter except no stump shall exceed twelve inches, and all slash lopped and scattered no higher than two feet above ground level.

Individuals harvesting forest products from Hualapai tribal lands may be held responsible for the suppression costs and damages from any fires caused by their cutting activities. To minimize the possibility of fire, it is required that all chainsaws be equipped with a functioning spark arrester. It is also requested that all cutters have a shovel, axe, and a small fire extinguisher on site to suppress any fires created by the cutting operation.

Cutters are required to remove all trash created by them from their harvesting area.

61.5. Commercial Harvesting

Forest products may only be resold if a commercial permit was obtained prior to harvesting. Stumpage and administrative/slash disposal fees are charged to the permittee. There will be no refunds once permits are issued.

The stumpage value which may be harvested under paid permits in a tribal fiscal year by any individual shall not exceed $25,000.00.

In addition to the limitations required by regulation as to volume and values, performance bonds are required for all permits issued for stumpage values of $500 or more. Performance bonds will be 20% of the stumpage value payable in cash.

Permits will be issued at the Hualapai Tribal Forestry Office, pursuant to Section 61.2

All commercial permittees are required to abide by the following policies:

1. A permit must be obtained and the designated stumpage rate must be paid prior to harvesting.

2. All commercial harvesting will be in designated areas.
3. Any individual who has an active commercial harvesting permit is not allowed to harvest wood for personal use during the period that his commercial permit is in effect.
4. All commercial loads must be scaled at the Hualapai Tribal Forestry Office.
5. All forest products that will be transported off of Hualapai tribal lands must be accompanied with a hauling ticket issued by the Hualapai Tribal Forestry Program. It is the permittee's responsibility to insure that haul tickets are completed in duplicate and submitted to both the person hauling the material and to the Program. A completed haul ticket will include the date the material is hauled, volume of material being hauled, and the permit number under which the material was harvested.
6. Time allotted for fuelwood harvesting will be 1.2 days per cord. Time allotted for all other forest products harvested will be assigned on a case by case basis dependent on quantity and kind of product purchased. Permits may be extended once if a valid reason is presented before the expiration date.
7. All individuals harvesting forest products are required to use conservative cutting methods. Conservative cutting methods include no partial cutting of trees, utilization of all wood down to three inches and all wood 33% or more sound, stump heights not exceeding one-half of diameter except no stump shall exceed twelve inches, and all slash lopped and scattered no higher than two feet above ground level.
8. A permittee must adhere to the TERO Resolution and Ordinance when soliciting help to fulfill his permit. In essence, the resolution provides for Indian preference for "hiring, promoting, training, and all other aspects of employment and in subcontracting."
9. Individuals harvesting forest products may be held responsible for suppression costs and damages from any fires caused by their cutting activities. To minimize the possibility of fire, it is required that all chainsaws be equipped with a functioning spark arrester. Also, all cutters must have a shovel, axe, and a small fire extinguisher on site to suppress any fires created by the cutting operation.
10. Cutters are required to remove all trash created by them from their cutting area.
11. Currently enrolled members and individuals married to enrolled members are eligible to harvest forest products at the stumpage rates stipulated in Section 61.6 - Products and Stumpage Rates for Tribal Members or Individuals Married to Tribal Members - Commercial Permittees.
12. All other individuals are restricted to the forest products and stumpage values stipulated in Section 61.7 - Products and Stumpage Rates for Non-Hualapai Commercial Permittees.

Young Native Americans Celebrating Their Cultures

Submitted by: Charlotte Navanick | <http://www.cnn.com/2015/02/03/living/cnnphotos-red-road-native-americans/index.html>

By Emanuella Grinberg, CNN

(CNN)Native Americans often speak of straddling two worlds: the America where pop culture and political gridlock dominate headlines, and a world where the culture of their ancestors lives on through ritual celebrations, language and artisan traditions.

It's a tough balance to strike, especially as Native youth leave tribal lands in search of education and career opportunities. Across the nation, members of the nearly 600 federally recognized tribes are working to keep their traditions alive to pass on to the next generation and to show mainstream America that Native culture is a living, breathing entity.

Some faces of these efforts are captured in "Red Road," an ongoing photo series by Italian photographer Carlotta Cardana and writer Danielle SeeWalker, a member of the Standing Rock Sioux Reservation.

The name "Red Road" comes from the Lakota concept of "the good path" that should be followed in life, the project's website says: "The people we've met and photographed all follow this 'Red Road' in some way, rising above to be role models to their people and their way of life."

"Red Road" consists of portraits taken in a setting of the subject's choosing and a short biography, showing how each person bridges the gap between modern America and Indian Country. One photo shows 33-year-old Tanksi Morning Star Clairmont, who grew up off the reservation in Denver.

She was usually the only Native American in school growing up. She began to embrace her Native identity in high school by performing cultural dances for her classmates. She also learned the Lakota language and rituals from her grandmother and mother, and she continues to share them with her community in Denver, where she works for the American Indian College Fund.

Her portrait shows her dressed in hand-beaded regalia in the colors and patterns of the Lakota and Dakota tribes, standing near a river in a park close to her home in Denver. "I'm proud that we, as Native Americans, can maintain our traditional lifestyle whether we live in the city or on the reservation and that we can be educated and be professionals, too," Clairmont said in "Red Road."

Another photo shows Danielle Finn, a member of the Hunkpapa Lakota tribe, sitting on a pink bedspread in a bedroom of her family's home. If not for her traditional green dress and accessories made by her and mother, the portrait could be mistaken for an image from a decor catalog. A law student in Albuquerque, New Mexico, Finn also represented the Hunkpapa Lakota tribe at the 2014 Miss Indian World pageant. She also visits reservations on behalf of the Center for Native American Youth's "Champion for Change" program, discussing topics such as teen pregnancy, alcohol abuse and the importance of Native culture.

"Running in pageants is a way to show you are a leader, be an inspiration to other young Native girls and teach others about your tribe," she said. Cardana and SeeWalker met in 1998 while in high school. SeeWalker had just moved to Nebraska from her tribal land in North Dakota, and Cardana was an exchange student. They bonded as the new kids in town over a love for thrift clothes and blue hair, and they became lifelong friends.

They decided to pursue a project together in 2013 after Cardana visited SeeWalker and her family on the Standing Rock reservation. The goal was to capture stories that portrayed Native Americans in a positive light to counteract the negative headlines coming out of Indian Country related to substance abuse and poverty. "We envision this project as a celebration of Native American culture rather than portraying all the misery," Cardana said.

"There's a richness of cultural differences among the tribes. We tend to generalize and think of them as just a few tribes, but there's so much more." Carlotta Cardana is an Italian portrait and documentary photographer based in London.

Sage Honga, a 22-year-old from Peach Springs, Arizona, wears a handmade dress at the Grand Canyon, a sacred site of the Hualapai people. Since appearing in Miss Native American USA, she has been encouraging Native youth to travel off the reservation to explore more opportunities. "I want to be a role model to show my community and youth that it is possible to come off our land and do big things," she said in the "Red Road" photo series.

About The Project | Discovering the Red Road

Submitted by: Charlotte Navanick | <http://www.redroadproject.com/project/>

The Red Road Project is a fresh and candid collection of photographs & stories exploring the relationship between Native American people and their identity today. Our partnership as a photographer and writer duo makes for a multi-dimensional and unique piece. Carlotta's photographs capture the story of what it means to be a Native American in the twenty-first century, while Danielle's direct connection to Indian country gives this project an insider point of view.

Segregated at the bottom of society, Native American people have fought against stereotypes and the attempts to see their cultural traditions, practices and language vanish. Dismal life expectancy, drug & alcohol addiction, sexual abuse, poverty, crime and the highest suicide rates in the country are just some of the residual scars left on today's generations and are often the only things highlighted in mainstream media about this rich and dynamic culture. And yet, there are so many inspiring Native people out there who don't give up and are working so hard to make a difference for their people.

As Jean Houston once said, "If you keep telling the same sad small story, you will keep living the same sad small life". Through The Red Road Project we will stop telling the same sad story and start inspiring positive change.

Our project's name is dedicated to the Native concept for "the good path" that should be followed in life, an idea shared with the spiritual teachings of many other Indian nations. The people we've met and photographed follow this "red road" in some way, rising above to be role models to their people and their way of life.

To date, we have travelled to 12 states (driving more than 10,000 miles), documenting inspiring stories of Native American women. We've met spiritual leaders, teachers, activists, pageant winners, students, artisans, musicians, community workers, and tribal police officers. (A special thanks to our dear friend, Marcella Foccardi, who was a big help during this leg of the trip.)

This phase of the project was published by Marie Claire Magazine in several editions around the world and recently featured in CNN. It has also been exhibited in London and Rome. Our next chapter will concentrate on the cultural traditions and customs of Native Americans. In the spring of 2015 our project continues. We will attend the Gathering of Nations in April, participate in various speaking engagements in Indian communities around the U.S., and continue to collect more inspiring images and stories of both men and women.

RE: Annual Eligibility Re-Certification of Lifeline Subscribers

Dear Chairwoman Counts:

Citizens Utilities Rural Company, Inc is providing a copy of its Annual Lifeline Eligible Telecommunications Carrier Certification Form in compliance with 47 CFR 54.416 as adopted by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) in its Lifeline Reform Order, FCC 12-11, released February 6, 2012.

Section 54.416(b) requires eligible telecommunication carriers (ETCs) to annually provide the results of their re-certification efforts performed pursuant to Section 54.410(f) to the FCC and the Universal Service Administrative Company (USAC). ETCs are also required to provide the results of their re-certification efforts to state commissions and relevant tribal governments.

The enclosed certification form(s) include all Lifeline subscribers, including Lifeline subscribers that reside on tribal lands.

If you have any questions, please contact me at (916) 686-3588 or by email at joe.chicoine@ftr.com

Sincerely,

Joe Chicoine
Manager, Regulatory Compliance and Reporting

For purposes of this filing, an officer is an occupant of a position listed in the article of incorporation, articles of formation, or other similar legal document. An officer is a person who occupies a position specified in the corporate by-laws (or partnership agreement), and would typically be president, vice president for operations, vice president for finance, comptroller, treasurer, or a comparable position. If the filer is a sole proprietorship, the owner must sign the certification.

Section 1: Initial Certification All ETCs must complete this section

I certify that the company listed above has certification procedures in place to:

- A) Review income and program-based eligibility documentation prior to enrolling a consumer in the Lifeline program, and that, to the best of my knowledge, the company was presented with documentation of each consumer's household income and/or program-based eligibility prior to his or her enrollment in Lifeline; and/or
- B) Confirm consumer eligibility by relying upon access to a state database and/or notice of eligibility from the state Lifeline administrator prior to enrolling a consumer in the Lifeline program.

I am an officer of the company named above. I am authorized to make this certification for the Study Area Code listed above.

Coping With Suicidal Thoughts

Submitted by: Antonia Cogburn | Hualapai Education & Wellness

A message from Mike Kufeld, Clinical Supervisor Hualapai Department of Health & Wellness

We want to help the Hualapai community members understand what you can do when you are having thoughts of suicide. You might be feeling that your situation is hopeless, you might be feeling alone, and you might feel that there is no way out.

I want to tell you that there is HOPE. You're not alone; many of us have had suicidal thoughts at some point in our lives. Feeling suicidal doesn't mean that you are crazy, or weak, or flawed. It only means that you have more pain than you can cope with right now. This pain seems overwhelming and permanent at the moment. But with time and support, you can overcome your problems and the pain and suicidal feelings will pass.

Coping with suicidal thoughts: Cited from © Helpguide.org. All rights reserved. This site is for information only and NOT a substitute for professional diagnosis and treatment.

Step #1: Promise not to do anything right now. Even though you're in a lot of pain right now, give yourself some distance between thoughts and action. Make a promise to yourself: "I will wait 24 hours and won't do anything drastic during that time." Or, wait a week.

Thoughts and actions are two different things-your suicidal thoughts do not have to become a reality. There's no deadline, no one pushing you to act on these thoughts immediately. Wait. Wait and put some distance between your suicidal thoughts and suicidal action.

Step #2: Avoid drugs and alcohol. Suicidal thoughts can become even stronger if you have taken drugs or alcohol. It is important to not use drugs or alcohol when you feel hopeless or are thinking about suicide.

Step #3: Make your home safe. Remove things you could use to hurt yourself, such as pills, knives, razors, or firearms. If you are unable to do so, go to a place where you can feel safe. If you are thinking of taking an overdose, give your medicines to someone who can return them to you one day at a time as you need them.

Step #4: Take hope-people DO get through this. Even people who feel as badly as you are feeling now manage to survive these feelings. Take hope in this. There is a very good chance that you are going to live through these feelings, no matter how much self-loathing, hopelessness, or isolation you are currently experiencing. Just give yourself the time needed and don't try to go it alone.

Step #5: Don't keep these suicidal feelings to yourself. Many of us have found that the first step to coping with suicidal thoughts and feelings is to share them with someone we trust. It may be a friend, a therapist, a member of the clergy, a teacher, a family doctor, a coach, or an experienced counselor at the end of a helpline. Find someone you trust and let them know how bad things are. Don't let fear, shame, or embarrassment prevent you from seeking help. Just talking about how you got to this point in your life can release a lot of the pressure that's building up and help you find a way to cope.

If you need to talk please call us at 928-769-2201. Our office hours are 8 a.m.-5 p.m. We are here to help you but we cannot help if we do not know about how you are feeling. After hours calls go to our protocol service at the same number. If their counselor cannot resolve the situation our on call counselor will be contacted to further assist you.

I would like to wish a Happy Valentine's Day to my love, my best friend, my companion, my husband Peterjay Marshall. Even though you are away, there is not a moment that goes by that I am not thinking of you. I think of you all day everyday. I miss you and can't wait 'til you come home. I love you and I'm praying for you.

Your lovely

I would like to wish a Happy Valentine's Day to my (3) little Valentine's: Tarase, Taygen and Gabriel. God blessed us with you three. I love you guys.

Love Mom

Congratulations to Juan Sinyella and Cody Powskey, stars of the Tigers basketball team. Our boys have done a terrific job all season long! Your dedication and teamwork has made us proud. Juan, ever since you were small, you have loved basketball. Many thanks to Ron Quasula, Jr., your coach. Good luck to you boys on your future teams. Keep making those lay ups!

LEGENDS FROM THE SKY

Synopsis

A Native American Veteran, burdened by survivor's guilt after a disastrous military tour, is forced to search for his missing grandfather after his ancestral land is mysteriously taken over by an Unknown Federal Organization.

Meet Writer/Director Holt Hamilton

Travis Holt Hamilton is one of a very small handful of filmmakers who continues to make successful contemporary Native American films outside the Hollywood system. Hamilton wrote his first full-length feature film while deployed to the Middle East with the United States Military. When he returned home fifteen months later, he went to work to turn his script into a film. Four years later he released the Navajo hit film Turquoise Rose (2007) to an approving world audience. The film continues to screen around the world.

Determined to keep moving forward with his film education, Hamilton produced three additional feature films; Blue Gap Boy's (2008), Pete & Cleo (2010) and More Than Frybread (2012), which gave him additional insights into the moviemaking and distributing world of independent motion pictures.

Hamilton brings all of his past film experiences and determination to the plate in his newest film Legends from the Sky (2015).

Why a science fiction movie?

"I wanted to make a movie that gave me new experience in a film genre that I had never worked in before. For a long time, I've had an idea to make a Native thriller film. I enjoy the science fiction and suspense genre and this story gave me the opportunity to get in and play with a different style of filmmaking. Legends from the Sky allowed me to learn a ton about special effects and the magic that the effects can bring to a story.

I really want to be a great filmmaker and part of that process is experimenting with different genres. I've always felt that I need to make a dozen feature films before I can really call myself a filmmaker. This is number five. I'm very excited to bring Legends to Native country. There aren't too many, if any, Native American Science Fiction films out there. My hope is that this film changes that."

Meet the Cast

Lyle

Edsel Pete (Navajo) is an experienced Marine Corps combat veteran. He is fluent in Navajo and currently is the Veteran Affairs Department Manager with the Navajo Nation. This is his first leading role in a feature film.

Mia Sable (Choctaw) is a professional actress and award-winning singer songwriter based in Los Angeles, California. She is best known for her theme song on Bravo TV's Southern Charm. This is her first leading role in a feature film.

Tanya*Sibley

Chris Robinson was voted the number one actor in daytime television for seventeen consecutive months on General Hospital. He starred in ABC TV's 12 O'clock High and has guest starred in over 150 primetime television shows and movies.

Ernie Tsosie III (Navajo) is an award-winning comedian, actor and motivational speaker since 1996. He has had a role in all of Holt Hamilton films. His acting and comedic background bring a nice mix into his first Native Ufologist role.

Tom*Bahe

James Bilagody (Navajo) is a well-known comedian, songwriter and actor. He has been in two other Holt Hamilton films. His background in Navajo culture and life on the reservation give great depth to draw from for his starring role as a Navajo Ranger.

Thomas H. Begay (Navajo) is a celebrated Navajo Code Talker and a Korean War veteran who is a Chosin Few survivor. He spends much of his time talking to groups about WWII and the importance the Navajo Code Talkers played in it. This is his first lead role in a feature film.

Chei*DiCarlo

Cale Epps is an experienced actor with many projects to his credit. He recently attended the London Film School where he jumpstarted his writing and directing career. He brings great talent to his role as one of the unidentified Federal Agents.

Drew Moore is a former football player with over thirteen years at the professional level. He has landed numerous acting roles and sees his career rocketing forward at a fast pace. His size and talent are perfect for his role as an intimidating Federal Agent.

Jones*Chairman

Wayne Charles Baker (Squamish) is an experienced Canadian actor who has worked on such shows as North of 60, Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee, Pathfinder, Arctic Air, X-files, and Blackstone. His rich acting depth comes across the screen nicely as he plays the important Makah Chairman.

Derek Solorzano is a professional actor who has dedicated his life to the performing arts. He started his career as an extra in the movie Kingdom, which inspired him to continue to march forward with his dreams. He landed a supporting role in the film 2Guns where he worked with Denzel Washington and Mark Wahlberg.

Daniels*Carl

Jon Gonzalez (Chiricahua Apache) is a professional actor, model and public speaker. He recently purchased a ranch in central New Mexico where he is living his dream. His performance in Legends adds a rich tapestry that makes his character quite unique.
